Glass Open Book

GlassPrint

Europe's only event dedicated to flat, hollow and automotive glass decoration

Description:

Taking place at the easily accessible Radisson Blu Scandinavia Hotel in Düsseldorf, GlassPrint 2023 will present the latest innovative advances in flat and hollow glass decoration, covering screen printing, digital technology and revolutionary new techniques such as 3D printing via a two-day programme of conference and networking sessions.

Early-bird exhibitor rates are also available for suppliers of equipment, consumables, technology and services in the accompanying tabletop area, where the latest developments in inks, pre-press technology, printing equipment and supplies will be presented to a captive audience of existing and potential customers. Current exhibitors include Curvink, Grünig, Fenzi, Fermac, Ferro, InkCups, ISIMAT, Kissel+Wolf, Koenig & Bauer Kammann, Lüscher, Marabu, PVF, RKS, Sefar, SIAK, SignTronic, Sun Chemical and Tecno5.

GlassPrint 2023 follows the 2019 event that was deemed an outstanding success by a record audience that travelled from 28 different countries in Africa, Asia, Europe, Middle East, North America and South America. Previous GlassPrint events have attracted glassmakers, decorators, end users, suppliers and brand owners such as ABInBev, AGC, Apple, ARC, Ardagh, Corning, Deco Glas, Diageo, Guardian, Heinz, Libbey, Nokia, Nestlé, NSG/Pilkington, O-I, Saint-Gobain, Schott, Sisecam, The Absolut Company, Verallia, Vetropack, William Grant and many more.

In recognition of its importance on the global glass event calendar, GlassPrint is powered by glasstec and sponsored by glassglobal.com. The event is co-organised by ESMA and Chameleon Business Media (publisher of “Glass Worldwide”).
