Why Partner with a Distributor and Not the Manufacturer

Going direct to a manufacturer is a strategy that only a few, very large companies can accomplish and be satisfied. Why? Manufacturers deal only in high-volumes with no alterations or deviations from what they normally produce.

As a distributor, Pipeline Packaging leverages its buying power so that you still receive competitive pricing. Unlike manufacturers, we offer a great deal of flexibility through our Core Services which allow you to modify stock packaging/palletizing, enjoy just-in-time delivery, consider custom packaging design and other benefits. Manufacturers simply aren’t equipped to be as nimble.
