Description:

HAVERKAMP GmbH was founded in Münster in 1978 and is one of the world's leading suppliers in the fields of security technology, sun protection and film technology.

In the field of security technology, HAVERKAMP develops, produces and installs various solutions for the comprehensive protection of endangered persons, objects and buildings. These include explosion-resistant and impact-resistant films for glazing, door and window systems as well as high-security fencing and ground detection for property protection.

The core business of the sun protection and film technology division is high-quality functional films that can be combined in different ways to provide suitable heat, UV, glare and privacy protection in public, private or mobile areas. HAVERKAMP always offers its customers suitable solutions for a healthy indoor climate with a wide range of functional films.

HAVERKAMP has ISO 9001 certification, which confirms the high quality standard from development to installation.
