Harald Hacks Tech GmbH

Simple and fast solution for neck ring and mould repair

Description: The Harald Hacks Tech GmbH in Bochum, Germany, have made it our mission to develop solutions to improve the neck ring and mould repair process.

Our innovative and unique repair systems, have resulted from the cumulative experience gained from over two million repairs on over 5,000 different types of neck rings.

Our goal from the start was to simplify the neck ring and mould repair to such an extent that common and one-off errors can be ruled out and a consistent and standardised level of quality can be attained. The technique we have developed ensures that precisely these goals can be achieved, while also making repairs substantially easier to perform.
